

Campaign Bed

The Campaign Bed was inspired by a military campaign bed made by the specialist maker Thomas Butler, who was working in the late-eighteenth and early-nineteenth centuries. The cornice has been adapted and is made from brass, which can either be left exposed or upholstered to create an elegant, enclosed space. The rest of the frame is made from solid walnut.

The dimensions below refer to the bed depicted, which is 5'6" wide. All Max Rollitt Bespoke beds are made to order, according to client requirements; these can include fabrics, divan and mattress, as well as the frame itself.
